Message from The Rector

As the world comes into grips with the realities of dealing with a global pandemic, 2020 can be looked back as a year defined by the Covid-19 outbreak. The coronavirus contagion led to disruptions in our training schedules. Amidst the challenges posed by the pandemic, this year we managed to publish a cutting-edge research work on the occasion of birth centenary of the father of nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, titled 'Bangabandhu's vision of law enforcement: Policing in Bangladesh'. We are confident that this comprehensive work shall be regarded as a milestone in the research arena of Bangladesh Police.

This year, the long awaited 17th Board of Governors meeting was held on September 22, 2020. PSC is governed by the Board of Governors composed of a high level 13 member's body headed by the Honorable Minister, Ministry of Home Affairs. The Board of Governors is the College's governing body and has responsibility for the strategic direction and overall governance and management. The BoG provided advice, guidance and support to ensure the successful achievement of PSC's mission.

During this year PSC conducted two mid-career courses & some partnership courses. The Research and Publication wing conducted several seminars on methodology of research projects, which will be instrumental in guiding the researchers to achieve optimum results and findings. Signing of MoUs between PSC and Mawlana Bhashani Science and Technology University, Human Development Research Center (HDRC), Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies (BIDS) and National Academy for Planning and Development (NAPD) is surely a stepping stone to further bonds of collaboration and mutual cooperation in the local knowledge ecosystem. We have also completed enrollment of students of, 5th Batch, in the Master of Applied Criminology and Police Management (MACPM) course. The students of MACPM are composed of personnel from Bangladesh Police, the Armed Forces Division, as well as members of various government organs and private corporations.

As you read this report, I hope you will gain insight into the breadth and depth of our activities. The ultimate success of our accomplishments depends on the dedicated contribution of our partners and dedicated staff. I am immensely grateful to those individuals and partners who energize and strengthen us with their phenomenal support. As we look forward to another wonderful year at PSC, I wish all the very best for your good health and safety in these testing times.

Executive Summary

Chinese philosopher Lao Tzu mentioned a few thousand years ago- “A journey of a thousand miles starts with one step”. On a similar note, this annual report is a testament to the journey of Police Staff College Bangladesh towards its long-term vision. Our annual goals are aligned with the aims and objectives of this institution, and signify a commitment towards achieving higher and aiming bigger. This report details our efforts to influence police leaders, sheds light on academic endeavors, highlights significant collaborations and elaborates our overall activities to strengthen PSC in terms of both academic and infrastructural development in the year 2020.

In the wake of the global Covid-19 pandemic, we had to reframe and adjust a major portion of our program, in accordance with the national strategy to control the pandemic. After the first reported coronavirus case in Bangladesh was confirmed on 8 March 2020, PSC postponed all its scheduled events, including ATA courses, from 15 March to 30 June 2020. Later on, the initial postponement was extended to September 2020. By the end of the year, PSC succeeded in completing almost all of the scheduled activities with the exception of training programs that were hampered due to the spread of Covid-19.

In 2020, PSC hosted 10 training courses that included one Core course and two Mid-career courses comprising of 358 participants from various professions, ranks, and backgrounds. PSC also conducted several partnership courses with ATA, US Embassy, and UNDP. As part of our foreign collaboration efforts, 23 participants of the 1st General Administration and Financial Management Certificate Course went to Australia for a week-long training program at Macquarie University, in the month of February.

On the occasion of the birth centenary of the father of the Nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, PSC conducted and completed an ambitious research work titled “Bangabandhu’s vision of law enforcement: Policing in Bangladesh”. The lead researcher was Professor Abul Kashem, Pro-Vice-Chancellor of the Bangladesh University of Professionals. An expert team consisting of members from Police Headquarters, Police Staff College Bangladesh, and renowned academicians conducted the research program within one-year timeframe under the guidance of the Rector, PSC.

As part of PSC’s ongoing efforts to develop a collaborative research ecosystem, we have signed Memoranda of Understanding with Mawlana Bhashani Science and Technology University, Tangail (MBSTU), Human Development Research Center (HDRC), Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies (BIDS) and the National Academy for Planning and Development (NAPD). These MOUs herald the beginnings of highly potential collaborative mechanisms between PSC and these institutions.

PSC's flagship Masters-level course in Applied Criminology and Police Management (MACPM) welcomed its fifth batch of students. Virtual classes were arranged for the first time for the students of MACPM, following government guidelines. The current batch comprises of a total of

The 17th meeting of the Board of Governors (BoG) of Police Staff College was held at its campus on September 22, 2020, presided over by the Chairman of the Board, Honorable Minister of Home Affairs, Mr. Asaduzzaman Khan, MP. The BoG members reviewed the institutional performance, provided advice and guidance regarding ongoing activities, and pledged their support for future projects to ensure the implementation of PSC's mission.

The development of PSC's infrastructure is a continuous process, aimed at improving organizational efficiency by ensuring quality facilities for in-house staff and trainees. Over the past year, carefully planned infrastructural development projects and renovation works were undertaken. The inauguration of a modern Cross Fit Zone added a new dimension to the campus environment of Police Staff College Bangladesh. The Cross Fit Zone, combining state-of-the-art gymnasiums, a swimming pool, and sports grounds, will hopefully contribute to improving the physical health of the faculties, trainees, and staff. Besides, a good number of infrastructural initiatives and renovations are in progress.

I would like to show my profound gratitude to the Rector and Vice-Rector of PSC for their unconditional support and valuable advice in preparing this Annual Report. I appreciate and thank all the PSC staff, in particular, the Research Wing for their diligence, hard work, sincerity, and assiduous effort to bring this report into existence. Before I finish, let me quote Nobel laureate Hermann Hesse- "Wisdom cannot be imparted. Wisdom that a wise man attempts to impart always sounds like foolishness to someone else. Knowledge can be communicated, but not wisdom. One can find it, live it, do wonders through it, but one cannot communicate and teach it".

It is my solemn hope that as the top think-tank of Bangladesh Police, Police Staff College will continually adapt and shine brighter in its goal of imparting relevant knowledge, which the trainees will transform into wisdom through their dedication and perseverance.

Thank You.

Roadmap to Achieving PSC's Strategic Goals

Goal 1: Influence and Enhance Police Leadership, Prudence and Professionalism.

Police Staff College Bangladesh (PSC) is the apex training and research institution of Bangladesh Police, supporting and influencing police professionals and other personnel from various government/non-government agencies towards better service delivery and better practices for ensuring better security for the citizens.

Training Mandate

- To impart training to officials ranked ASP and above within the police organization
- To organize & conduct national & international conferences, seminars, and symposiums on subjects to the police administration & management, and other relevant topics.
- To develop training curricula.
- To award certificates, diplomas and others degrees after successful completion of courses and trainings

Strategy: Provide quality training to police leaders to make them capable and efficient in terms of meeting contemporary policing needs.

The core strategy of ensuring quality training for police officers has been enacted in various strategic plans by PSC. One of the approaches in line with this spirit is ensuring diversity in courses to accommodate maximum levels of police leaders. This year, PSC conducted a range of mid-career courses, specialized courses and regional courses designed for different ranks, ranging from ASP to DIG. This year, two mid-career courses were conducted – the 1st Police Executive and Management Certificate Course for SPs and the 1st Police Leadership & Management Certificate (PLMC) Course for ASPs. Among core courses, the Crime Administration Management Certificate (CAMC) Course for Additional SPs and ASPs was conducted. PSC also hosted three seminars including “Research Needs Analysis: Scope & Challenges”, four workshops on “Unified Reward Standard system for all Units of Bangladesh Police”, “Introduction of Social Media Strategies”, “Research Methodology”, and “Enhancement of Training and Research Activities of Police Staff College Bangladesh” project.

Chart: Number of Different Training Events

Training activities postponed due to COVID-19 pandemic

Bangladesh announced its first confirmed Covid-19 case on 8 March 2020. Afterwards, PSC postponed all the training programs scheduled between 15 March and 30 June 2020, including ATA courses. The postponed programs were supposed to cover the following topics.

1. Suicide bomber prevention
2. Identifying & developing investigative information
3. Interviewing terrorist suspects
4. Investigating terrorist incidents

The workshop on “Investigating terrorist incidents” was already underway when it was postponed due to the Covid-10 situation. The initial embargo on training programs till June was later extended up to September 2020.

Strategy: Make the Training Programs Career Focused and Compulsory

This year PSC has delivered two mid-career training programs for police leaders ranked from ASP to SP, at each level, on a phase-basis to prepare them to be competent for the next career levels and acquire the skills, knowledge and attitude required to render professional duties with due diligence and prudence. These training programs are conducted in collaboration with international organizations and the global academia.

Strategy: Make the Training Programs Inclusive, Extensive and Participatory

Gender Inclusiveness in PSC Courses:

PSC consistently puts strategic emphasis on gender inclusion, although the heavily disproportionate male-female ratio in police means that women are underrepresented in policing in general. The state of gender diversity in PSC courses is also deserves improvement. This year, a total of 290 male and 68 female participants attended in different PSC courses. In the comparison to that of the previous year, the number of female participants has increased. In the past year, the ratio of male and female participants was 88.16: 11.84 for every hundred, while this year, male and female percentage ratio was 81:18.99. The increase in the number of female participants at PSC is an encouraging development in view of PSC’s aim to make training programs more inclusive and broader in scope.

Accommodating Wider Range of Participants

PSC accommodated a significant number participants of varying degrees of experience this year. PSC provided training to total 305 participants of Bangladesh Police officials of various ranks. The highest numbers of trainees came from rank of Superintendent of Police (SP), followed by the rank of ASP. Among the total graduates there were 12 Additional DIGs, 78 SPs, 58 Additional SPs, 68 ASPs, 33 Inspectors, 24 Sub-inspectors, two Sergeants, eight Assistant Sub-inspectors and 16 constables. A total of 53 participants came from non-policing backgrounds.

Incorporating Participants from Diverse Units

In line with its strategic goal to ensure participant diversity, PSC's training programs hosted participants from 13 police units and categories. During the year, PSC trainings were mostly attended by participants from Metropolitan Police units, followed by District Police personnel and staff from Police Headquarters, respectively. Industrial Police and RAB were the two least represented units.

Inviting Resource Persons from Diverse Sectors

PSC's resource persons include prominent police leaders, renowned academicians, scholars, high-level bureaucrats, eminent lawyers, jurists, defense personnel etc. In 2020, a total of 168 speakers lectured at PSC, among whom the majority were police leaders. Bureaucrats, members of the civil society and university faculty members were also among the resource persons.

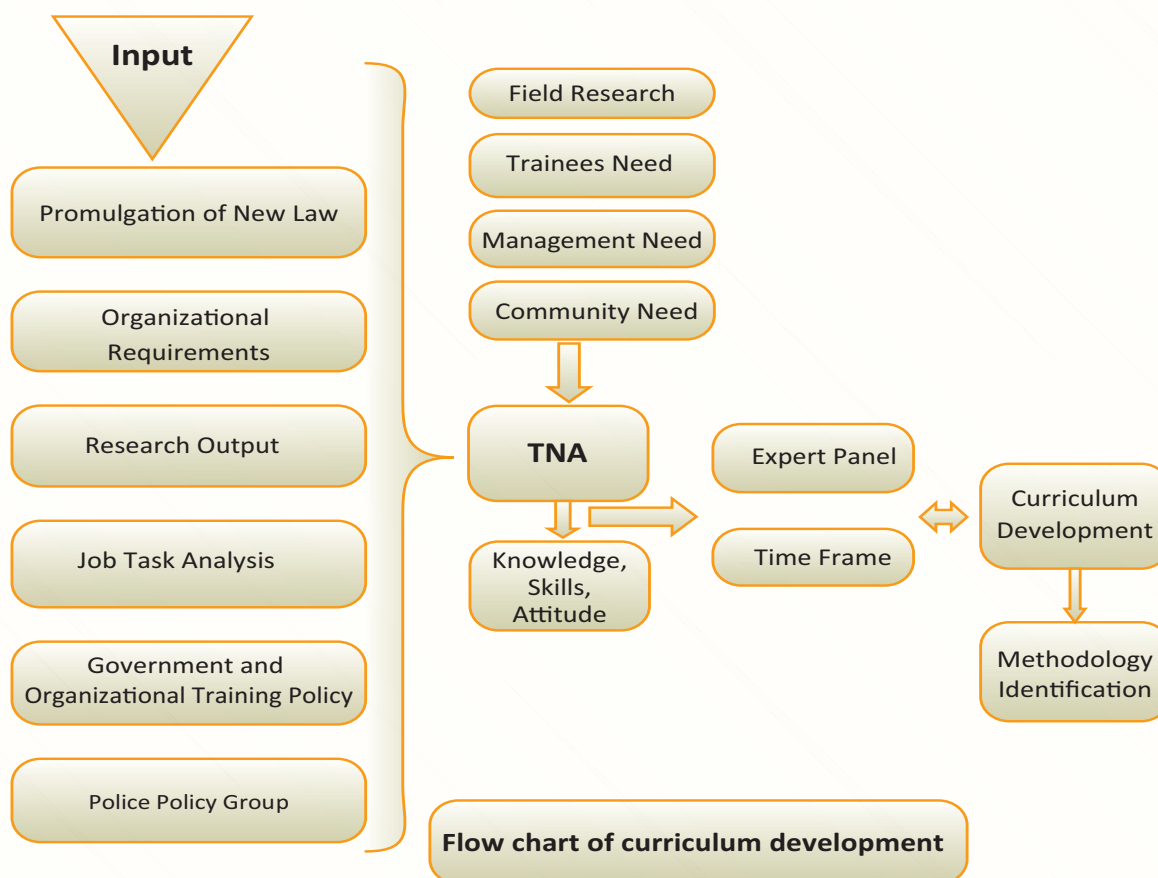

Chart: Composition of Speakers' List

Strategy: Develop Curricula Maintaining a High Level of Methodical Rigor

Curriculum Development Grounded under Various Methods of Training Evaluation such as Training Impact Analysis and Training Need Assessment

Courses conducted at PSC are generally formulated through a long process of curriculum development. The initiation of the process is derived from initial requirements outlined in research output, organizational requirements, job task analyses, government training policies and policy-level decisions in the law enforcement hierarchy. Training Need Assessment (TNA) and Impact Analysis of training are instrumental in assessing validity of the initial propositions. Throughout the planning process, various tools are utilized to ensure optimal design of courses. Discussion groups, problem-solving exercises, case studies, field visits and panel discussions are arranged to ensure that the proposed training regime can inculcate the necessary knowledge, skills and attitude (KSA) among trainees. To execute the policy emphasis on specific requirements, PSC invites resource persons and forms expert panels with members from public universities, research organizations, policy analysts and retired police officers with a wealth of experience. The final stages of the development of course curricula are executed by PSC faculty members in collaboration with external resource persons.

FLOW CHART OF CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT:

Goal 2: Augmenting National and International Partnerships and Networks

A multitude of perspectives and an internationally united front can provide a much-needed advantage in this challenging law enforcement environment. Collaborative partnerships in the field of education and research provide a multi-agency learning environment and enhance the opportunities for the development of professional skills, knowledge and capabilities.

PSC is stepping up its engagement with national and international like-minded partners in regards to improving its education and research. Over the years, PSC has initiated and broadened its partnership horizon to include Australia's Macquarie University, the UNDP, various foreign diplomatic missions located in Dhaka such as the US Embassy, the Embassy of Turkey, Ministry of Public Security, China, Access to Information (a2i) program, the office of the Honorable Prime Minister of Bangladesh etc. The valued involvement of these partners is one of the great drivers of PSC's excellence.

Strategy: Promote Mutual Partnership and Networking

In the present landscape of global communication and interaction, the exchange of experience and expertise is a common phenomenon desired by most organizations willing to advance the cause of excellence. Mutual cooperation and sharing of professional knowledge are essential for an institution in the knowledge industry to reach to an optimal standard of service. Keeping these in mind, PSC is attempting to explore new opportunities for potential collaboration with the academia around the world. PSC made a landmark success through opening the avenues of potential collaboration with one of Australia's leading educational institutions – Macquarie University. Early in the year 2020, 24 participants, two PSC faculties and one representative from the Police Headquarters visited Macquarie University for a very fruitful training tour. The follow-ups to this interaction was postponed after the global Covid-19 scenario reached pandemic proportions.

Participants attending a session at Macquarie University, Australia

Strategy: Building International Networks

In the course of implementing PSC's mandate to broaden its academic, research and training framework, institutional efforts are ongoing to strengthen its network in the global knowledge arena. PSC is continuously striving to create exciting learning opportunities and acquire shared capabilities with international partners.

In 2020, PSC initiated a collaborative partnership with Macquarie University Australia. Partnership programs incorporate mutual collaborative arrangements in various academic fields. In 2020, PSC sent participants from Bangladesh Police to Macquarie University as part of a mandatory mid-career training held in PSC. Macquarie University also gave a plan to send its undergraduate students to Police Staff College, Bangladesh for a two-week sojourn with funding from the Australian Government, a proposal which was warmly welcomed by the PSC delegation.

On another note, PSC placed a proposal to Macquarie University for mutual collaboration on curriculum development for "Security Studies" and "Cyber Security" courses that are to be started in PSC.

Strategy: Locally Arranged Integrated Programs with National/International Partners

Every year, PSC organizes partnership programs in collaboration with the Anti-Terrorism Assistance Program (ATA)-US Department of State; International Criminal Investigative Training Assistance Program (ICITAP)-USA, United States Department of Justice, and a host of international partners.

Comparison between 2020 and 2019 in terms of participants and courses including partnership courses and its participants

During 2020, PSC conducted fewer core courses - 3 in total – than in 2019, which amounted to seven back then. Partnership courses were also fewer in number than that in 2019. Only seven partnership courses were conducted in 2020, while the number was 24 in 2019. The incidence of the Covid-19 pandemic is the primary factor.

Goal 3: Offer Graduate Learning Programs to Our Communities to Enhance Academic Literacy & Wisdom

Strategy: Establishing Innovative and Work-Based Graduate Learning Programs

Master of Applied Criminology and Police Management

PSC is dedicated to offering advanced studies on contemporary policing, criminology and criminal justice. It aims at equipping police and other relevant professionals with critical insights on contemporary security and criminology so that they can effectively and efficiently discharge their duties. At the same time it also offers study opportunities to the interested and potential candidates from non-police and non-government organizations to help them developing their careers more meaningfully in the security services. The introduction of the graduate learning program on Master of Applied Criminology and Police Management has shed light on PSC's academic endeavor. The program was launched in July 2016 with a strong work based functional curriculum designed to provide a sound police education. The curriculum and course credits of Master's program reflect broader education objectives in applied criminology, police leadership, management and contemporary issues in policing in order to achieve a safer community. Strategy: Communicate Evidence-Based Research to Policy and Practice

To meet its strategic goals, PSC is committed to undertake and support quality research to deliver best to the community. In this persuasion PSC's Academic & Research Wing is a dedicated research and knowledge center on crime and justice in Bangladesh Police. Its research priorities are aligned with Bangladesh Police Research Agenda. The main motto of PSC's research is to promote justice and reduce crime through communicating evidence-based research to policy and practice. The research works here are regulated under Police Staff College Act 2002. The research outcomes are sent to the Police Headquarters for further action. During the year, PSC was regular in its research and publications. One research projects were accomplished in 2018-19 and two were undergoing. The research outcomes were valuable and insightful. Apart from this, PSC published its Newsletters and Annual Report as a regular fashion. Through academic persuasion, research and journal publication, PSC continues to build the bridges between contemporary policing and academia.

Notable research projects accomplished during the year

On the occasion of birth centenary of the father of the nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman and 'Mujib Barsho', Police Staff College Bangladesh conducted a research on "Bangabandhu's Vision of Law Enforcement: Policing in Bangladesh". This title was approved by the Inspector General of Bangladesh Police in October, 2019. An expert team consisting of members from the Police Headquarters and Police Staff College Bangladesh, including renowned academicians, conducted the research program with timeframe of one year.

Concept Note of Research Work on Bangabandhu's Policing Vision

This research aimed to delve into the way in which Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman encountered the police force throughout his political struggle during the colonial and Pakistan period and his vision for policing to serve better in the independent Bangladesh. In order to understand the origin of Bangladesh police and its pro-people root, it is necessary to understand the history of Bangladesh Police by using the lens of Bangabandhu's dream. However, there is no research work which examine these important issues and therefore the proposed study aims to contribute significantly to the relevant knowledge with the claim of originality in this field. This research will be an archival and empirical study.

Research Objective 1:

1: To explore, capture and synthesize the dreams, thoughts and ideas of Bangabandhu on law enforcement objectively in a scientific manner. Specific research objectives under this broad objective are:

- i. To explore the reasons behind the emergence of Bangabandhu as a great political leader of Bangladesh.
- ii. To explore the challenges Bangabandhu faced as a ruler of newly independent country.
- iii. To explore the philosophies of Bangabandhu to rule independent Bangladesh.
- iv. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to reconstruct Bangladesh.
- v. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to frame the legal structure of Bangladesh.
- vi. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to ensure law enforcement in Bangladesh.
- vii. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to streamline the courts and correction system in Bangladesh.
- viii. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to prevent and punish crimes and corruption in Bangladesh
- ix. To explore the visions of Bangabandhu to establish people's friendly pro-people law enforcement agencies in Bangladesh.

Research Objective 2:

To analyze the understanding of Bangabandhu on people friendly policing. Specific research objectives under this broad objective are

- i. To reveal the police reforms initiatives undertaken during the period from 1972 to 1975.
- ii. To delineate the trend of police practices that had been followed in the post-independent Bangladesh (1972 - 1975).
- iii. To analyze Bangabandhu's perception regarding people-friendly ideals in the police system.
- iv. To trace the motivating factors that led Bangabandhu for promoting the cause of people-friendly policing in Bangladesh.

Research Objective 3:

To formulate policy recommendations for people-friendly policing in Bangladesh. Specific research objectives under this broad objective are

- i. To review at what extent the current policing system accomplishing the goals and targets needed to become people's friendly.
- ii. To identify the obstacles being faced to achieving this goal.
- iii. To develop, in context to Bangladesh the indigenous ways and means for establishing people-friendly policing system.
- iv. To review different options and mechanisms to make police accountable to the communities.
- v. To analyze the present state of police-community relationship prevailing in Bangladesh and to see how far it commensurate with implementing people-friendly policing in Bangladesh.

Rector, PSC giving speech in the Research Report Receiving Seminar on "Bangabandhu's vision of law enforcement: Policing in Bangladesh"

Research Methodology

This research was an archival and empirical study. In order to understand (a) Bangabandhu's experiences of encountering police force until 1971 and (b) his vision of policing, the study will critically examine archival documents which include police reports, autobiography, speeches, newspaper reports, various official documents and the like. On the other hand, in order to examine the third objective of the study i.e. to explore the challenges, if any, of making democratic policing in the contemporary Bangladesh, several locations selected for the proposed study. In doing so, the research will draw upon three sets of qualitative data: one-to-one interviews, observations, and document analyses. Its design and methods tailored according to the specific research questions and objectives of this study.

Research Objectives

The general objective of the study is to explore the learning of Bangladesh Police managing their roles in the Covid-19 pandemic situation and how such learning could be applied in professional development of Bangladesh police for better services to the Nation in future. This general objective focuses on three major dimensions to be considered: a) Role of Bangladesh Police in the pandemic situation, b) learning and experience of Bangladesh Police in pandemic situation, and c) showing way forward that could enable Bangladesh Police to utilize new learning and experiences in their future professional development for betterment of the country and people. To achieve the above dimensions of the general objective, the following research questions have been formulated:

Research Questions

1. What roles do the Bangladesh police execute during pandemic situations across the country?
2. How do the members of Bangladesh police construct challenges in discharging their duties during the pandemic situation?
3. What are the ways of overcoming the challenges raised due to pandemic?
4. What are the perceived reasons for casualties of Bangladesh police in performing their duties during the pandemic situation?
5. What lessons do Bangladesh Police learn and experience gained through performing their duties in a pandemic situation?
6. What success do Bangladesh Police have in managing their responsibilities in this health emergency?
7. How do Bangladesh Police could utilize their learning and experiences for professional development and better services to the Nation in future?

These research questions help to guide the selection of research methods and techniques that were thought

Study Design: Methodological Framework

Professor Dr. Diba Hossain Presenting the research methodology of her research project

Joint Research venture with UNDP :

Title of the Project: “Quality of Policing in Bangladesh: Life, Sacrifice, and Commitment of Women Police”

Objectives of the Project:

The primary objective of the research is to examine the ways in which the women police in Bangladesh has played important role in enhancing the quality of policing. In other words, it aims to examine how actual crime, its prevention and detection, is frequently dealt with by women police officers in Bangladesh with special reference to “gender responsive policing”. To this end, it aims to investigate the role of women police officers in Bangladesh for providing better quality policing. In a country like Bangladesh where large number of women and children are victims in various ways, we argue that the inclusion of women policing made constructive contribution in the detection and prevention of crimes. Since the very outset of the inclusion in Bangladesh, women police officers played a significant role in the detection of actual crimes with a ‘gender responsive policing’ and also played major role in prevention of crimes.

Moreover, some specific objective of the study are as follows:

To investigate the life, sacrifice and commitment of women police in Bangladesh to develop a greater understanding of the problems that women face within the police services.

To provide policy recommendations from the research findings of the project.

Methodology

In order to examine the role, contribution and nature of work of women police officers in Bangladesh, this study will employ a qualitative method. The research will draw upon mainly from four sets of qualitative data: survey, one-to-one interviews, focus group discussion, and document analyses. In order to collect data, several locations (such as police station) will be selected for the proposed study.

Document analysis

Survey

Key Informants Interview (KII)

Focus Group Discussions (FGDs)

Expected outcome:

The primary goal of this study is to contribute significantly to the relevant knowledge with the claim of originality. It is expected that the study will unveil a deeper insight about the life, sacrifice and contribution of women police in Bangladesh and hence will be helpful for policy makers to make reforms for better policing. The study is expected to contribute for both policy makers and academicians.

We plan to disseminate the results of the study in the form research report, research articles, and presenting in academic conference(s) and/or public lecture in university. As this research will be carried out by the Police Staff College Bangladesh (PSC), the apex training and research institution of Bangladesh Police, it would be relatively easy for us to disseminate the research findings to the Police Headquarters and the Government through a number of seminars, symposiums, workshops, policy briefs and policy report.

Project Target Beneficiaries: our target beneficiaries are as follows:

- a. Bangladesh Police: Bangladesh Police as an organization would be beneficiary from this project as the study is expected to reveals unexplored/hidden secret of its potentialities to ensure quality policing with the goal of gender responsive policing.

- b. Women and children victims of the country: we postulate that inclusion more women police officers and also better working environment for women police officers is essential for providing better service to women and children victims. Thus, the study report can provide constructive recommendation in this regard.
- c. Women Police: Ditto.

The Implementing strategies of the study are as follows:

- Documenting the state of job nature, obstacles to carryout job, life and sacrifice of women police officers' in Bangladesh;
- The study report shall provide a guideline to include more women police officers and their greater involvement;
- It will identify challenges for the government in providing better policing services if the government does not further improve the work environment for women police and not include more women police office.

Title of the Project: "Role of prosecutors in lower courts and its impact on the criminal justice system of Bangladesh, 2005– 2015"

Objectives of the study

The main objective of this study is to evaluate the role of Public Prosecutors in the administration of justice in Bangladesh. Specifically, this research will assess the impact of changes in prosecutorial policy that is, shifting of prosecutorial responsibilities from member of the police to the public prosecutors on the disposition of criminal cases in the lower courts of Bangladesh. Finally, some policy options will be suggested to improve the justice delivery through effective police investigation and efficient prosecution of the criminal cases which would reduce the violation of human rights during the trial process.

Research Questions

- RQ 1. What are the attitudes and perceptions of the key actors within the criminal justice system towards the shifting of prosecutorial responsibility from police to public prosecutor?
- RQ 2. What are the present nature of relationship between the police and prosecutors in the investigation and prosecution of criminal cases due to this shift and whether changes in relationship have any impact on the actors of criminal justice system?
- RQ 3. What are the factors that influence the delay in justice delivery within the criminal justice system?
- RQ 4. How have the delayed justice delivery impacted the human rights of accused and the victims?
- RQ 5. How have the prosecution of criminal cases changed in the lower courts after the removal of police prosecutors and how have this policy change affected the rights of victims and accused?
- RQ 6. To what extent the employment of public prosecutors at lower courts impacted the outcomes of police investigations?
- RQ 7. What policy measures should be undertaken for the effective and efficient justice delivery and improve the human rights situation in Bangladesh in relation to investigation and prosecution of criminal cases?

Expected Outcome In recent years there has been much controversies over the efficacy of changed prosecution policy in regards to criminal investigation. Many argue that the employment of public prosecutor is one of the contributory factors in the low conviction rates in recent years. Hence, the findings will be useful in underpinning the difficulties in improving current police investigative practices and effective prosecution policies in Bangladesh.

Methods: Both quantitative and qualitative methods would be employed to gather data to explore answers to seven research questions stated earlier. The following methods will be adopted to collect the data:

- Document review of the relevant reports, court documents
- Pre-test and Post-test design

- Sample Survey
- Focus Group Discussion (FGD)
- Key Informant Interview
- In-depth interview
- Case studies

Document Review All the relevant documents, reports, and secondary data will be collected and reviewed by the core-team members in relation to the present study. These documents will be reviewed under the guidance of the Principal Investigator

Survey Design (including sample selection strategy)

Police Respondents A total of 30 districts across the country will be selected for the study. From each sampled district 3 police stations (2 urban and one rural) will be purposely selected. In total, 90 police stations will be included in the survey. Then a fixed number of 3 respondents (OC, Inspector Investigation and one Sub-Inspector) from each police station will be selected for interview. The final sample size will be 270.

Court Respondents In each district court judge, head of public prosecution (PP) and 2 APPs, one court Inspector will be selected for interview. In total 150 interviews will be conducted. The total sample size police and court officials for the survey will be 420.

In-depth interview In –depth interview samples will be drawn from the judges of lower court, public prosecution (PP), APPs, Court Inspectors, and police investigators of the sampled districts. A total of 50 in-depth interviews will be conducted.

Impact Analysis

A pre-and-post-test design will be used to compare the impact of the removal of police prosecutors from the lower courts. Target groups for the survey (in-person interview), FGDs, KIIs, in-depth interviews will be court Inspectors, police investigators including Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors working at the various investigation units within the Bangladesh Police, judges, Public Prosecutors (PPs), and Assistant Public Prosecutors (APPs) and senior officials of the law ministry.

Work Plan: Sequencing of Major Activities

The major phases of the proposed study to be carried out by the Police Staff College are as follows:

Finalization of methodology and data collection instruments

Data collection

Data management and analysis

Drafting, Presentation, and Finalization of Report

Title of the Project: “The Road Safety and Human Rights Interface: The Space and Specificity of Bangladesh Police as the Prime Mover”

Objectives of the Project:

To identify specific areas relating to road safety and human rights wherein Bangladesh Police can intervene timely and properly for prevention and mitigation of road accidents and thus uphold the human rights of different stake holders involved therein.

Specific Objectives

- To examine the prevailing laws, literatures, documents and reports related to road accident and safety in Bangladesh from human rights perspective;
- To seek the opinion of different stakeholders and extract their views and perception on road safety and human rights issues;
- To examine the main reasons behind the road accident occurring all over Bangladesh
- To identify the role of traffic police and highway police in maintaining road safety all over Bangladesh; and
- To make suggestions for reducing road accidents and ensuring human rights of all the concerned stakeholders.

Scope of the Study

- 5.1 Extensive review of the road accident and safety related literatures in Bangladesh context that includes legal, structural and behavioural analysis,
- 5.2 Stakeholder analysis related to road safety,
- 5.3 Gathering views and perception of major stakeholders’ groups
- 5.4 Preparing a status description on global knowledge and practice in measuring road safety,
- 5.5 Preparing a status description on local mechanism of data management and reporting of road safety related issues in Bangladesh,
- 5.6 Preparing suggestions for improving road safety situation in Bangladesh.

In recent years there has been heavy discourse on deaths and injuries from road traffic accidents and how this man-made disaster is providing the space for violation of human rights. The efficacy of Bangladesh police in this respect is also seriously questioned. Many argue that Bangladesh police specially the traffic and highway police have vital roles to play in this arena. The findings of this study will, hopefully call for reform in the activities of the traffic and highway police. Reformatory measures will initiate formulation of new law/act, policy, plan and plan of action and implementation thereof. Most importantly this study is expected to aid in fulfilling the SDG 3.6: halving the number of global deaths and injuries from road traffic accidents by 2020.

Methods:

i) Target Group: The target group of our study is the victims of road accidents either dead or injured physically and mentally. The dependent of the deceased or the fatally injured persons would be the respondent of our study. Data will be collected from both primary and secondary sources. The primary data will be collected through mixed method approach: a combination of both qualitative and quantitative approaches. The quantitative data will be collected by survey method through face –to-face- interview using a structured questionnaire by electronic devices (mobile responsive survey). The qualitative data will be collected through Focus Group Discussion (FGD) and Key Informant Interviews (KIIs). The FGD and KII will be conducted among the injured persons, representatives from Traffic Police, Highway Police, Bangladesh Passenger Welfare Organisation, Nirapad Sarak Chai (Nischa), BRTA. Bangladesh Motor Vehicles Owners’ Association, Bangladesh Motor Vehicles’ Drivers’ Association, Bangladesh Lawyers’ Association, Bangladesh Association of Judges and so on.

ii) Sampling technique: Our study will follow a stratified-cluster sampling technique to collect data. The daily Prothom Alo and the daily Ittefaq published within the period of January, 2018 onward to July 2019 were screened thoroughly to identify the place of occurrence, address and background of the victim and other backgrounds. The number of clusters would be decided upon the number of accidents reported per area.

iii) Data Analysis: applicable software, such as, SPSS, MS excel, were used for data analysis. iv) Interpretation: A triangulation was designed to validate the findings. A logical cross analysis was done among findings from literature review, quantitative and qualitative information.

Strategy: Focusing and Branding of PSC Functions

PSC is committed to disseminate its educational and development programs through regular annual publications. The publications by PSC are available in physical print copy, and are also published in digital format on the official website www.psc.gov.bd. Our Annual Reports encapsulate the entire year's activities and future plans in brief. The PSC Journal, as part of its research endeavors, is published by PSC with two issues each year. The tri-annual PSC Newsletters chronicle the activities, progress made, and notable events of the past four months. Special issues of newsletters are brought forth on specific occasions. In the year 2020, due to circumstances arising from the Covid-19 pandemic, PSC's newsletter was published on two occasions instead of the usual set of tri-annual issues.

Goal 5: Create a Vibrant and Quality Learning Environment

Strategy: Capacity Building of Staff

PSC is continuously undertaking efforts to develop its institutional capacity and capability. The primary driver of this improvement would be development of individual staff capacity among PSC personnel. Building individual skills and expanding PSC capabilities would entail programs ranging from computer literacy for technical development to various executive levels of training as well as higher studies in national and international levels. In the year 2020, many pre-arranged activities had to be postponed due to growing concerns over the coronavirus pandemic.

Management of COVID 19

Initiatives taken by Admin Wing, PSC

During the devastating outbreak of COVID-19, PSC undertook a host of initiatives to combat this unseen enemy. For saving the precious life of its staff members and to be protected from this most contagious disease, the foremost strategy was to curtail all bodily communications with outsiders, with the exception of basic needs. Secondly, the accommodation of forces' barracks was rearranged for maintaining social distance properly. Thirdly, all protective gears such as facemasks, face-shields, PPEs, hand gloves and hand sanitizers were provided to all PSC personnel. Fifthly, intelligent temperature measurement instruments were installed at the both gates of office and dormitory entry, including disinfecting spray and sanitizer. Staff residing outside the campus were directed to work from home. All training programs were suspended in line with government directives.

Smart Temperature Measurement system installed at entrance

The PSC authorities rose to the occasion when the opportunity arrived for rendering assistance to doctors in the frontline fight against COVID 19. PSC did not hesitate to come forward to provide services to the doctors of Impulse Hospital as per the order given by the respected IGP. During the peak time of the pandemic's initial outbreak, Bangladesh Police as front line fighters came forward to provide door-to-door assistance for the affected people. With boldness and courage, police personnel fought the pandemic and were subsequently infected in large numbers. At one point, it was not possible for the Central Police Hospital to give treatment to all the affected member of Bangladesh Police. In this critical juncture the Inspector General took the timely decision of signing up for the assistance of a private medical hospital, Impulse, to ensure proper treatment for every police personnel. PSC stepped up to proper food and lodging to the doctors and also looked after their wellbeing and quarantine logistics.

PSC's dedication to the wellbeing of to serve its staff members as well as Bangladesh Police and all our countrymen resulted in a successful endeavor in the fight against Covid-19. In total, 28 PSC staff were infected with the coronavirus during the year 2020. Those tested positive were provided proper care with medicine and food, and were dealt with the highest importance. Thankfully, no coronavirus-related casualties happened to date.

Welfare and Recreational Activities

PSC remains in a very festive mood in line with the country on days of important national festivals. Throughout the year of 2020, PSC observed, it commemorated important days like, birth centenary of the Father of the Nation and National Mourning Day with full respect and solemnity. Every year, all staff including the forces along with their family members had an active participation in events like Iftar Mahfil, Eid reunion, cultural programs, family Day. But this year all welfare and recreational activities were canceled due to the Covid-19 pandemic situation, particularly from 15 March to September of 2020.

Rectors Night: Police Staff College Bangladesh arranged “Rectors Night & Cultural Soiree” to celebrate the graduation of the PLMCC course on 25th February 2020 at PSC Dormitory. The program was started with a mind blowing patriotic song. The active participation of the participants kept the night on. The whole program was conducted by Tahura Jannat, Deputy Director (Research & Publications) wing. The cultural show was followed by a grand dinner.

PSC arranged another festive and colorful Cultural Soiree to celebrate the graduation of the PEMCC course on 11th November 2020 at PSC Dormitory. Abu Hasan Md Tarique, Deputy Inspector General of Bangladesh Police, was present as Chief Guest on that occasion. This program was also hosted by Tahura Jannat, Deputy Director.

PSC: Challenges & Way Forward

Challenges

PSC is now facing the following significant challenges that need to be considered for its future course of action.

- Insufficient number of internal resource persons: PSC is very much dependent on outside speakers. Because of the frequent transfer of the faculty, PSC cannot develop its internal resource persons. It should have an internal panel of facilitators specialized on particular subject so that it can run its training sessions independently.
- Lack of manpower: Apart from facilitators, PSC's endeavor has also been hampered by a lack of other supporting staff. PSC is still suffering from a shortage of skilled manpower. Most of the personnel under command are working under deputation from various police units.
- Lack of experienced personnel for conducting quality research: PSC needs more experienced as well as interested personnel in the research field.
- Limited infrastructural facilities: It has limited scope of infrastructure facilities. Now the present facilities only can accommodate several certificate programs. For the purposes of long term courses, PSC's infrastructure requires upgrades like seminar rooms, syndicate rooms etc.
- Insufficient accommodation & logistics for the staff: PSC cannot provide sufficient accommodation for its staff. Not only that, it also has some significant shortage of logistic supports specially vehicle support. In such a scenario the staff faces severe transport problem that eventually impact optimal management of training and research.
- Insufficient vehicle support for the participants and the guest speakers: PSC does not possess the optimal quantity of vehicle support required for the participants, guest speakers, or even for research purposes including field study. It needs to be dependent on DMP or PHQ for vehicle support especially when hosting mega events like international conferences or SAARC training.
- Constraints of library: PSC's library needs to be more advanced in terms of shelf space, seating and collection. It still does not have on line access to online books, journals and reports.

Way Forward

Keeping these challenges in perspective, PSC could chart its way forward keeping the following factors in mind.

1. Focus on capacity building: PSC should focus more on capacity building initiatives for the directing staff. In that case more training is needed for the PSC faculties.
2. Selection of officers committed to training and learning: It needs closer contact with PHQ so that officers who are dedicated and have thirst to knowledge are posted to PSC.
3. Engagement with national and international universities: PSC can make partnership with local and foreign universities who teach criminology and policing related issues. Based on such partnership PSC can make an exchange program for its faculties and this would also help its research activities.
4. Focus on research based study: Bangladesh Police needs more research- based policy implication that PSC can offer. Considering such significance, PSC faculties should be encouraged for having more research higher degrees either from local or from foreign universities. Devotion for Ph.D research would be highly appreciated in this regards. In that case, PSC can arrange some financial support for those personnel.
5. Giving importance on academic honesty for quality research: PSC has to buy plagiarism detection software to ensure academic honesty.

6. Taking initiatives for getting access to online resources: PSC should take necessary steps for getting online access to academic resources.
7. Implementation of e-learning process: In line with the Government of Bangladesh's vision -2020, PSC should take necessary step for the immediate adoption of e-learning system.
8. Strengthening of Manpower: Institutional persuasion is needed to increase permanent staff so that PSC would not have to depend on deputation.
9. Strengthening of logistic support: For smooth functioning of education, training and research activities, PSC's logistic support should be upgraded, in particular vehicle. Hence, closer official communication with PHQ is needed to increase those facilities.
10. Accommodation for PSC staff: Since there are insufficient residential facilities for officials of PSC, initiatives are needed to prepare a plan for building up a multi-storied dormitory for senior officers to mitigate this problem.
11. Efforts to move pending rules of PSC: Active and continuous drive is urgent to make sure that those rules come into existence.
12. Ensuring green commitment: In order to keep its premise environmental friendly, PSC should follow some green commitments, such as installation of automatic timing for lights and air conditioning controllers to reduce energy consumption, embracing e-learning software and reducing paper use, recycling of paper printer, toner cartridge and e-waste.
