Newsletter, 7th Issue

September-December 2013

I welcome all the readers to our New Year's Newsletter. We have worked to provide Police Staff College premium issues to our readers incorporating news from all the spheres. We strive to keep our readers updated with all the recent happening in PSC. I wish you can use this issue to assist yourself in rising above whatever you know about us and to have a stronger, more sustained connection with us.

The very purpose of publishing the newsletter on the eve of new year is to bring together Academicians having particular interest and expertise in the police; to facilitate and encourage training, research and development activities related to policing; to encourage appropriate and effective teaching techniques and practices for police-related courses; to serve as a resource network and promote interaction among stake holders in order to further knowledge about the police; and to organize conference sessions related to the police matters for overall growth and progress.

I would like to thank the contributors and to express my appreciation to all particularly to the editorial board for developing the effective communication between PSC Newsletter and readers.

I wish you all a prosperous, blissful & bright HAPPY NEW YEAR 2014.

Clarity on Functional Policing Course

This course comprises 195 ASP Probationers from 28th, 29th and 30th BCS (Police) Batch. On completion of their basic training in Police Academy Sardah and 03 months in their district attachment, they are brought in Police Staff College Bangladesh for a week-long training course to minimize the knowledge gap between theoretical concept and functional policing.

Inspector General of Bangladesh Police Mr. Hassan Mahmood Khandker, BPM, PPM, ndc, awarding certificate to one of the participants on the Graduation ceremony of the 2nd Course on Clarity on Functional Policing

As we are living in a society where the law and order situation is always getting newer dimension and sometimes posing very unusual threat to the sense of security of the citizen, our future senior police management should be able to encounter all those challenges with their highest level of confidence and competency. Keeping this in mind, Police Staff College Bangladesh arranged this training for all 195 ASP (Probationers), which is a timely attempt to clarify all the doubts regarding existing framework of Bangladesh Police in delivering legal services to the people. All the contemporary issues in the modern day policing are included in the course curriculum and all the sessions are conducted in the form of panel discussion where the most experienced and potential police officers in the respective area presented the topics and clarified the doubts. Group discussions and presentations on the selected topics were arranged for the participants to allow them wide exposure in policing through critical analysis.

Evaluation of the Course:

This course was successfully completed in four batches. The presence of IGP Mr. Hassan Mahmood Khandker BPM, PPM, ndc along with other Additional IGP's in the inaugural and graduation ceremony inspired all new police managers who will be the future leaders of Bangladesh police. The evaluation wing of Police Staff College Bangladesh, after an exclusive evaluation process, found the participants with a changed and enhanced attitude.

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh, Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of 3rd Course of Clarity on Functional Policing on 17 November 2013

All the participants demonstrated satisfactory performance in the post course exam and other activities. After the course being completed, the participants recommended that this course be made mandatory for the ASP Probationers in the middle of their district attachment tenure so that the probationers can get this ample opportunity to clarify their doubts they faced during their probation period. They also recommended this course to be at least of two weeks with more practical interpretation of contemporary policing issues. Being aware of their upcoming challenges, they demanded for more specialized courses.

23rd Police Management Course

Police Management Course (PMC) is one of the core courses offered by Police Staff College Bangladesh for the Assistant Superintendents of Police. It is undeniable that the improvement of operational performance of today's police service irrespective of both developing and developed countries of the world calls for quality training; reflecting need-based priorities for senior police officials; initiating the change management through leadership and operative programme. In view of this, the course has been designed for the participants to enhance organizational capability so that they can provide an integrated response to different management issues.

Evaluation of the course:

To evaluate this course, participants have opined that this course has opened up a new chapter before them with renewed attitude regarding the management activities as a police manager. Through group discussions and problem-solving exercises, they have already developed innovative strategies, honed their managerial skills, and grasped the concept of multi-jurisdictional information sharing. This course contents have fulfilled their expectations through and by developing present and future leadership; making them acquainted with different systems of policing like pro-people & intelligence based policing; acquiring knowledge on case management, supervision and office management at unit level. Moreover, they have learnt how to use the digital equipment and technology along with the modern management thoughts and gathered the knowledge to examine the latest trends and patterns in home and abroad.

On behalf of the participants, course Senior of 23rd police Management Course, M.K.H. Jahangir Hossain, Sr ASP, RAB-1, Uttara, Dhaka handing over a crest to Md. Matiur Rahman Sheikh, MDS (Research, Planning & Evaluation), Police Staff College Bangladesh

The knowledge and attitude they got from this course is enough to get the ability to adore and flourish themselves with the highest professional competency in their area of responsibilities. After the completion of the course, the participants are now confident in managerial issues imparted to them. On the other hand, they have put some recommendations like duration of the course can be increased up to four weeks; more exercises and tests can be included to make the course more fruitful and visit to police station can be arranged to make the course more effective.

PMC is an effective and pragmatic course for the Assistant Superintendents of police. It is obvious that this training program has enabled them to be more confident in policing through sharing experiences and exchanging ideas with the experienced and prudent instructors. They would be able to discharge their duties and responsibilities through practicum of this training program better than they could do.

Initial Investigation Course

'Initial Investigation Course' has been arranged for field level Police Officers who are mostly engaged in investigation in their day to day professional activities. Investigation plays the most important role in the detection and prevention of crime. There is no denying the fact that we are lagging behind the international standard in terms of applying investigation techniques. Our conventional approach to investigation does not match the organized criminal networks at local, regional and international levels. So, we have to apply global investigation techniques to strengthen our investigation.

Her Excellency Ms Hanne Fugl Eskjaer, The Danish Ambassador to Bangladesh; Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh; Mr. Duncan Brown, Senior Adviser, Royal Danish Embassy, Dhaka; Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh; Instructors and the Participants of Initial Investigation Course on 26 September 2013

Course Objectives:

To deal with the issues like primary objectives of investigation, procedure in preliminary investigation, defects of investigation, crime scene management, examination and selection of witness, search and preparation of seizure list, arrest and interrogation of suspects and accused persons and human rights issues.

Initial Investigation Course

Organized by : Royal Danish Embassy, Dhaka
Duration : Two Weeks (15-26 September 2013)
Participants : Sub-inspector to Inspector
Number of participants: 20

Evaluation of the Course:

This course is a good initiative of Royal Danish Embassy, Dhaka to train the field level police officers of different police units. Police Staff College Bangladesh authority is delighted to be attached with this splendid endeavor. Basically, this course was designed with international contents. Curriculum can be customized with local context. It will be more effective if senior police officers of Bangladesh Police are included as resource persons.

Human Rights for the POM Commanders

The effective training of police in human rights is an essential element in the global efforts to promote and protect human rights in every country. In order to protect human rights, the police must first know and understand them. They must understand the fact that international human rights standards concerning their work were developed to provide invaluable guidance for the performance of their crucial functions in a democratic society. Keeping this in mind, Police Reform Program (PRP) organized training on Human Rights for the POM Commanders.

Twenty two participants attended the course.

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh; Instructors, Mr. Edward N Magno, Mr. Hoang Ky Ly, Mr. Richard H Rivers; Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of Investigative Information Management on 08 December 2013

'Investigative Information Management Course' was developed to provide the participants with the knowledge and skills they need to plan and enhance the capability of, and effectively manage a law enforcement intelligence unit.

Through this course, the participants will become familiar with the intelligence process, an accepted model for structuring the analysis of information. They will examine best practices for establishing or improving an intelligence unit. In addition, they will gain knowledge and skills needed to effectively manage the analytic process. In particular, the participants will examine:

- How a human rights-based community engagement policy and intelligence-led policing enhance your agency's ability to combat terrorism
- The latest trends in terrorist operations and activity
- Key roles and responsibilities of those involved in the law enforcement intelligence process
- Intelligence produced by analysts and how these products are derived
- How to plan and implement an effective law enforcement intelligence unit, or improve an existing one
- The unique management roles and responsibilities of a law enforcement intelligence manager
- The knowledge and skills needed to operate an intelligence unit efficiently and effectively
- Best practices for ensuring information and operations security, controlling the dissemination of law enforcement intelligence and information, and fostering inter-agency cooperation

At the conclusion of this course, the participants will be able to:

- Define terrorism and describe how terrorist groups operate
- Explain how respecting human rights and promoting community policing can help combat terrorism
- Describe the importance of intelligence-led policing and its application for combating terrorism
- Describe the elements of an effective law enforcement intelligence unit, including key roles and responsibilities
- Describe various analytic products and interpret their meanings
- Describe the unique duties and responsibilities of a law enforcement intelligence unit manager
- Identify key elements of a strategic plan to establish a law enforcement intelligence unit
- Identify strategies and best practices for effectively managing a law enforcement intelligence unit
- Describe the essential elements needed to manage the security of a law enforcement intelligence unit
- Describe the importance of developing policies and procedures to facilitate sharing information and intelligence with other entities both within an agency and at the national and international levels

Community Policing for Senior Officers

Training on Community Policing for Senior Officers was held at Police Staff College Bangladesh from 03 September to 05 September 2013. The course was sponsored by Police Reform Program (PRP), UNDP. Nineteen participants of the rank of ASP to Addl. SP participated in the training.

Community policing is a philosophy. It comes from Sir Robert Peel who created the Metropolitan Police in 1829 when he served as Home Secretary of England. According to Peel, the real key for policing is "the police are the people and the people are the police". Community policing is based on Peel's concept of prevention of crime and promoting better police-community partnerships.

Community Policing for Senior Officers

Organized by : Police Reform Program (PRP), UNDP

Duration : Three Days (03 - 05 September 2013)

Participants : ASP to Addl. SP

Number of participants : 19

Coordinator : Muht. Abdur Rakib, Deputy Director (R & P)

The Training on Community Policing focuses on crime and social disorder through the delivery of police services that include aspects of traditional law enforcement as well as prevention of crime, problem-solving, community engagement, and partnerships. It balances reactive responses through service delivery with proactive problem-solving centered on the causes of crime and disorder. It requires police and citizens to join together as partners. Since Bangladesh is a densely populated country, police-people ratio is obviously lower, and, this may be the prime cause of putting emphasis on community policing.

Mr. Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh and Mr. Gerard Smith, Technical Expert Investigation and Operation, Police Reform Program (PRP), Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of Training on Community Policing for Senior Officers on 05 September 2013

Seminar on 'Criminal Justice System; Functional Reality: Challenges and Remedies'

Police Staff College Bangladesh organized a day-long seminar on Criminal Justice System; Functional Reality: Challenges and Remedies' on 14 September 2013. A total number of sixty participants attended the seminar. Police Officers, Asst. Judges, Chemists, Doctors and Advocates were present in the seminar.

Barrister Mahbubur Rahman PPM, DIG (Special Investigation & Intelligence), CID, Bangladesh Police, Mr. Md. Golam Rasul, MDS (Training), Police Staff College Bangladesh, Mr. Md. Zakir Hossain, Director (Training), Judicial Administration Training Institute, Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of the Seminar

Two keynote speakers of the seminar were Barrister Mahbubur Rahman PPM, DIG (Special Investigation & Intelligence), CID, Bangladesh Police and Mr. Md. Zakir Hossain, Director (Training), Judicial Administration Training Institute (JATI). They spoke about the background of criminal justice system in Bangladesh and present challenges relating to judiciary, prosecution, police, prison, investigation, remand, bail, witness, media trial, pressure group, slow trial process etc.

Mr. Md. Zakir Hossain, Director (Training), Judicial Administration Training Institute, pointed out: "The executive, the legislature and the judiciary are the three organs of the State, and have an equally important role to play in our constitutional scheme. The system of check and balance is applicable to all three and none must overstep their respective limits. The inevitable tension between the organs must be viewed as a creative one, which ultimately results in strengthening the foundations of constitutionalism. They work in coordination and not in confrontation." Some recommendations are made by the speakers at the seminar to overcome the present shortcomings of our criminal justice system. They can be sum up in the following words:

- Mutual respect for all professional bodies related to criminal justice system
- Instead of blaming each other, holistic approach may be taken by relevant agencies to establish rule of law
- Court's discretion may be applied to stop the process of delay of trial at different stages (charge frame, cross examination etc.)
- Magistrate's court may have flexibility of re-allocating time to dispose of old cases (put up) and new cases (production cases)

Workshop on 'Role of Police in Environment Protection'

Police Staff College Bangladesh and Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association (BELA) jointly organized two workshops at the International Conference Centre (ICC) of PSC on "Role of Police in Environment Protection". The first workshop was held on 15 September 2013 and the second one on 21 December 2013. About seventy participants took part in those workshops.

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh, Mr. Hector D. Soliman, Project Team Leader, Community Legal Services, Dr. Ainun Nishat, Vice Chancellor, BRAC University, Syeda Rizwana Hasan, Advocate, Supreme Court & Chief Executive, BELA, Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of the workshop on 15 September 2013

Dr. Ainun Nishat, Vice Chancellor, BRAC University, and water resource and climate change specialist, spoke about 'Environmental Issues and Concerns: National and International Perspectives' as well as 'Sustainable Development: Issues and Concerns in Bangladesh'. His discussion was divided into three sections covering global, regional and national issues.

Dr. Ainun Nishat in the Workshop on Role of Police in Environment Protection

Dr. Ainun Nishat talked elaborately about global issues like 'Climate change and climate variability', 'Desertification processes', 'Loss of biodiversity' and 'Ozone layer depletion'. Regional issues like 'Water regulation in upper reaches', 'Deforestation in upper watershed', 'Cross-boundary Pollution', 'Threat of oil spillage' and 'Over-Fishing in the Bay' came alive in his speech. Then he focused on national issues like 'Population and bearing capacity', 'Food security, water security, energy security, health security and security for livelihood', 'Sustainable Agriculture', 'Depletion of Forest resources', 'Disappearance of Wetland and Fisheries', 'Loss of Biodiversity and medicinal plants', 'Rapid Urbanization' and 'Degradation of natural resources base'.

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh, Dr. Ainun Nishat, Vice Chancellor, BRAC University, Syeda Rizwana Hasan, Advocate, Supreme Court & Chief Executive, BELA, Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the Participants of the workshop on 21 December 2013

Syeda Rizwana Hasan, Advocate, Supreme Court & Chief Executive, BELA, in the Workshop on 'Role of Police in Environment Protection'

Syeda Rizwana Hasan discussed the 'Role of Police in Enforcing Environmental Laws'. She pointed out duties and responsibilities of police on environmental issues focusing on relevant articles and sections of the Constitution, the Police Act 1861, the Penal Code 1860, the Environment Conservation Act 1995, the Water Act 2013, the Brick Burning (Control) Act 1989, the Building Construction Act 1952, Wildlife (Preservation and Safety) Act 2012, and local government laws.

Workshop on 'Nation Building'

Nation building Process is an important phenomenon for the police managers to be dealt with. As a law enforcing agency of a comparatively new nation, Bangladesh Police has a great role to play in our nation building activities. Police Staff College Bangladesh organized a workshop on 'Nation Building' for the senior police officers of this apex training institute of Bangladesh Police on 03 December 2013. Professor Jeremy Sarkin, a UN special rapporteur from South Africa, was the keynote presenter in the workshop. Among others, Mona M'Bikay Boin, Project Manager, National Human Rights Commission Bangladesh, UNDP and Mr. Andre Redman, Capacity Building Specialist, Police Reform Programme (PRP), UNDP attended the workshop.

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh, Professor Jeremy Sarkin of South Africa, Mona M'Bikay Boin, Project Manager, National Human Rights Commission Bangladesh; UNDP and Mr. Andre Redman, Capacity Building Specialist, Police Reform Programme (PRP), UNDP, Directing Staff, Police Staff College Bangladesh and the participants of the workshop on 'Nation Building' on 03 December 2013

The overall objectives of this workshop are to make the participants competent in the following areas:

- To clarify the idea about nation and nation building process
- To conceptualize the components of nation building and other related aspects
- To be briefed with Human Rights and its relation with nation building process
- To get acquainted with international obligations of Bangladesh as a nation
- To get acquainted with international experiences regarding nation building and Human Rights issues

We Mourn

Police Staff College Bangladesh is shocked and deeply saddened by the sudden demise of Md. Monzurul Zaman, Addl. SP, PBI on 13 December 2013.

Md. Monzurul Zaman was one of the participants of 2nd Comprehensive Police Case Management Course. During his stay at the PSC Dormitory, he felt unwell at about 09 pm, 13 December 2013. At once, he was taken to Heart Foundation Hospital by the Medical Officer working at Police Staff College Bangladesh and declared 'brought dead' by the doctor on duty at Heart Foundation. The doctor opined that his death might result from cardio-respiratory failure.

This premature death of Md. Monzurul Zaman is a great loss for Bangladesh Police because he was a meritorious, competent and efficient police officer. We pray to the Almighty for the departed soul and offer our condolence to the bereaved family.

"He dies not who gives life to learning." — Al-Hadith
